

FEAR FOR SHERIFF, PRISONER OF TEN CONVICTS

KELLY ADMITS HAVING PART IN KIDNAPING

Gangster Denies Implication In Chicago Mail Robbery

Memphis, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Prodded by federal authorities, George "Machine Gun" Kelly has talked. W. A. Rorer, department of Justice agent, announced last night the "bad man" from the southwest had confessed a part in the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man, but that he had stoutly denied two other crimes.

"You've got me right on the Urschel kidnaping, but not the Chicago robbery and the Kansas City Union station job," Rorer quoted Kelly as saying.

Amplifying Rorer's brief announcement, a confidential source close to the federal authorities said Kelly in his oral confession had named Albert Bates, now on trial at Oklahoma City, as the gunman's actual accomplice in the Urschel kidnaping.

No Formal Confession
"Kelly made no formal confession but he told the Department of Justice agents," the informant said, "that he and Bates were the ones who did the actual kidnaping and that they took Urschel to Paradise, Texas, and returned to Oklahoma City to collect the ransom."

"Kelly indicated the degree of guilt of the others connected with the case and gave some idea of the disposition of the ransom money."

The Chicago robbery referred to in Rorer's announcement was the holdup of Federal Reserve Bank messengers and the slaying of a policeman, Sept. 21, the "Kansas City Union Station job" was the massacre of four officers and their prisoner, Frank Nash, another notorious outlaw, in an attempt to liberate Nash.

Has Change Of Heart
Before Kelly's confession was announced, he underwent a change of heart and withdrew from his previously announced determination to fight extradition to Oklahoma to stand trial for the kidnaping.

Kelly's statement that he would not fight extradition came before federal Judge Harry B. Anderson at Jackson, Tenn., signed a removal order for Kelly and his wife, Kathryn, arrested with him here yesterday.

ARGUMENTS BEGUN
Oklahoma City, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Joseph B. Keenan, Assistant U. S. Attorney General, opened the final arguments in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping case today with a declaration that the government is determined to wipe out kidnaping and the activities of machine gun gangsters.

The interest of the nation is focused upon the drama now coming to a close in this courtroom, and we are here to find an answer to the question of whether we shall have a government of law and order or abdicate in favor of machine gun gangsters," Keenan told the jury.

Albert Bates and Harvey Bailey are accused as principal defendants in the $200,000 kidnap case, with George Kelly, gunman arrested in Memphis. The others are R. G. (Boss) Shannon, his wife, Ora, and his son Armon, and the five Minneapolis and St. Paul men, Barney Bernman, Clifford Skelly, Eugene Blumenfeld, Sam Kronick and Sam Kosberg.

Four Separate Groups
Keenan referred to the unusual spectacle of four separate groups of defendants linked in the same case.

"It would seem that kidnaping has become a modern act," he said. "It requires the 'specimen' of these men to determine that it is intended victim can pay; it requires the actual 'snatchers,' the bold outlaws who smashed their way into a home in the dead of night to whisk away their victim at the point of machine guns."

"The third group comprises the guardsmen and those who hide the victim from the searching public spurred by the outraged community."

"Fourth, and not less important are the money changers, the slippery, slimy creatures, scheming in the manner and fashion of the modern fences, who exchange the marked currency into money that cannot be identified."

"It is self evident they are equally guilty with those who originally plotted and carried out the abduction."

LUE CASE NEARS JURY
Edwardsville, Ill., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Describing his client, Percy M. Fitzgerald, ex-convict, as a "kindly man," Manual Wiseman, defense attorney, today asked a jury trying Fitzgerald and five others for kidnaping August Luer, Alton banker, to free him.

Fitzgerald was the only defendant who did not take the witness stand in his own behalf, apparently to avoid revealing to the jury that he has served a prison sentence. Wiseman urged there was miti-

PLANS NEW BUILDING
Dr. Raymond Worsley has purchased the property at 105 East Second Street, formerly owned and occupied by the late Dr. Garrison. A force of workmen have started razing the structure, which is one of the few remaining landmarks in the business district, which is to be replaced by a modern two-story office building. The front of the building facing south on the court house square, is to be rebuilt flush with the street and when completed will be modern in every respect, replacing a structure which has been an eye sore for the past few years, during which time it has been vacant the greater part of the time.

Two Attorneys Deny Charges Of Contempt
Chicago, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Henry L. Blum and Frank L. Tuttle, attorneys, entered pleas of not guilty today to charges of contempt of the United States District Court for giving misleading, evasive and false answers to questions propounded them before the grand jury.

The government had sought to draw from them certain information about the alleged splitting of fees paid them by large corporations for interfering in tax matters before the state tax commission.

The grand jury is investigating the income tax returns of William H. Malone, former chairman of the Tax Commission, who is now traveling abroad.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 Friday afternoon from the Preston chapel with interment in Oakwood.

MAIL ROBBERS OVERLOOK BIG SUM IN BOSTON

Pouches Containing $100,000 Left Behind On Truck

BULLETIN
Boston, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Three robbers snatched three pouches of registered mail containing valuables worth $3,000 from a moving truck at the South Station today but left behind other mail sacks containing approximately $100,000.

A check of postal officials revealed that the robbers had obtained a sack destined for a Newport, R. I., savings bank containing three negotiable bonds worth $2,000 and other items worth $500 more. A second sack containing 37 pieces of mail for Cape Cod points valued at $97, and a third, containing $50 in pennies for a Taunton, Mass., bank and other mail.

In other sacks on the truck at the time, however, were bags containing money for banks in Newport, R. I., and Plymouth, Mass., aggregating approximately $100,000.

Hide In Phone Booths
The thieves, according to police reports, concealed themselves in telephone booths near the receiving room of the postal station and rushed the trucks as the money was being removed to be placed aboard trains. Gathering up the registered mail sacks, witnesses said, the thieves fled through the baggage room to a waiting automobile.

Acting Chief Inspector John Lucey of the New England postal district and Acting Postmaster Frank S. Childs of Boston took charge of the search.

So quickly did the robbers act that John Higgins the bewildered driver of the electric truck on which the pouches were being transferred with a number of others to an early train protested he had seen no robbery committed. He offered no resistance to the three men, each of whom quickly picked a sack from the truck and darted to an outside loading platform where the fourth man sat at the wheel of an automobile.

Outdistanced Taxi
A taxi cab driver, Jacob Lastoff, who had just discharged a fare at the terminal, saw the trio spring into the car with the bags and as the sedan gathered speed he decided to follow it. The light was dim and Lastoff said he was quickly outdistanced by the fast moving sedan.

Returning to the terminal he told his experience to two policemen. They rushed into the postal station but said they were told there had been no robbery.

Fifteen minutes later, however, police headquarters received frantic calls for assistance and squads of heavily armed men were dispatched to the terminal.

Early in the investigation a member of the railroad police expressed belief the robbery was an "inside job." A curious circumstance was that many postal employees had seen the three robbers about the place for some time before the robbery was committed but because all were roughly garbed the employees had concluded they were merely postoffice laborers reporting for extra work.

Wesley C. Poole, a guard assigned to the truck, was 75 feet behind the vehicle, he said, and was corroborated Higgins that he had seen no robbery committed.

Speed Of Buses Is Limited In Orders
Springfield, Ill., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Regulations limiting the speed of motor buses, with air tires, have been issued by the Illinois Commerce Commission, to become effective October 1. It marks the first attempt of the commission to regulate speeds.

The new rules place a maximum speed limit of 10 miles an hour in business districts of municipalities, 15 miles in residential districts, 20 miles elsewhere in corporate limits and 25 miles an hour on rural roads, except that eight miles is the maximum on curves where the view is obstructed.

At present, buses must obey city and village ordinances, but can go up to 40 miles an hour on hard roads outside corporate limits.

Asks Court Order To Permit Sunday Shows For Benton
Benton, Ill., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Robert E. Smith, an attorney, today asked Paul Jones, judge of the City Court, to issue an injunction restraining city officials from interfering with Sunday moving picture shows.

Smith asserted that the ordinance forbidding Sunday operation of theaters pertains only to movies, and is discriminatory. Judge Jones asked Robert Cook, judge of the Herrin City Court, to come here tomorrow and pass on the suit.

LEGISLATOR IS INDICTED TODAY BY PEKIN JURY

Jesse Hall Is Named With Others In Conspiracy Charges

Pekin, Ill., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Jesse Hall, state legislator and former Mayor of East Peoria, Ill., was indicted with three others by the county grand jury today on charges of conspiracy, forgery, embezzlement, bribery, and misconduct in connection with operation of the East Peoria Sanitary District.

Also indicted was James W. Betson, Peoria realtor now serving 25 years in the state penitentiary for the kidnaping a year ago of Dr. James Parker, wealthy physician. There were four counts of forgery against him.

The other defendants named are Eugene P. Welcher and William A. Frye. Resigned members of the Sanitary District board. Only misconduct was charged against Frye, but Welcher was named for all the offenses charged against Hall, and four charges of forgery in addition.

Hall, a state Representative from the 20th District, resigned recently as chairman of the board of the Sanitary District and as Mayor. His resignations came during an investigation of the Sanitary District sponsored by large industrial interests in East Peoria.

The charges against Betson were that he forged papers which enabled him to sell land that he had leased from the Sanitary District. Money from sale of the land never reached the District's treasury, the indictment charged.

CHARGES AMBOY WIFE TREATED HIM ROUGHLY

Lee Donoho Requests Legal Separation In Circuit Court

Mrs. Ada M. Logan through her attorney, W. T. Terrill of this city, has led action for divorce in the circuit court, against James A. Logan, Amboy jeweler and watchmaker. The couple were married at Amboy, July 9, 1926, and in her bill, Mrs. Logan charges drunkenness, cruelty and finally desertion.

Lee C. Donoho of Amboy, who was united in marriage to Mary A. Donoho, February 6, 1928 in Jefferson county, this state, through his attorney, Ralph Keller of Amboy, has filed divorce action, charging extreme and repeated cruelty. In his bill filed in the circuit court, the plaintiff charges that he lived with his wife until March 15, 1933, when he was compelled to cease living with her in consequence of ill treatment and because of her extreme and repeated cruelty.

As an example of her violence, he cites the date of April 1, 1930, when he alleged that she threw a box of pepper at his face, some of the pepper lodging in one of his eyes and causing him great pain and agony.

On another occasion, June 15, 1930, she struck him with a cup and threatened him with a butcher knife, he charges.

On April 20, 1931, table dishes and kitchen utensils were used by Mrs. Donoho according to her husband's bill of complaint in a most threatening manner. The couple are parents of nine children.

Lindbergh Praises Russian Aviation
Moscow, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife are so impressed by the experimental aviation work that is being carried on in Soviet Russia that they hope to return to this country in a couple of years to see for themselves.

The Colonel told of this desire at a banquet given in honor of himself and his wife last night. "Two United States Senators—W. G. McAdoo of California and R. R. Reynolds of North Carolina—were present, and a four-piece orchestra periodically played, 'Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean.'"

"This country is peculiarly fitted for aviation development because it is a land of great distances," Lindbergh said, "and I am impressed with your accomplishments."

Marconi Arrived In U. S. For Big Fair
New York, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Senator Guglielmo Marconi of Italy, wizard of the wireless, came to American shores today with the declaration that although television is emerging from the research stage it is not yet quite ready.

At the same time he expressed confidence that the business slumps would lift.

Accompanied by the charming Mrs. Marconi, the Senator is in this country for a stay of three weeks or more, during which he will attend the Chicago World's Fair and as he put it "learn something about radio in the United States."

BEER VIOLATOR FINED
Springfield, Ill., Sept. 28.—(AP)—The first conviction of a violator of the Illinois beer law was announced today by the state finance department.

Charles D. Boyd of Kewanee was fined $100 and costs in Henry County Court for operating a tavern without a license. Fines are paid into the general revenue fund of the state.

SUPPORT THE SCOUT DRIVE

The drive for funds to carry on scout work among the boys and girls of this area for another year starts Monday and surely the movement deserves the most generous support from our citizens. The amount needed is not great and the value it will bring to the boys and girls of this community is inestimable. We are investing today in the boys and girls who will be the men and women—the pillars of our community in the near future.

Scout work does wonderful things for the development and education of youth. It supplies so many valuable and needed things that cannot be had in either school or home. The value of scout work is not confined to the material results, such as expert training in swimming, life-saving, horseback riding, woods lore, handicraft, signaling, astronomy, sewing, cooking, motor-driving, gardening, mechanics and hundreds of other worth-while lines. It brings to the boy and girl a strength of character, a sense of responsibility, a realization of the priceless possession of a healthy body and a good mind, an alertness and intelligence, an ability to meet emergencies well and a wider comprehension of what this world and their adult lives will hold for them.

Scouting gives the boy and girl, at the time when it is most needed, something of absorbing interest that distracts their minds from less wholesome and more damaging diversions. It is something that every boy and girl should have.

There are many men and women who devote a great part of their time to the actual work of superintending scout activities. The least the rest of us can do is to help finance the scout work. Pay your share promptly and gladly. You never made a better investment.

WATSON OPENS UP ATTACK ON ADMINISTRATION

Former Senator Turns Republican Guns On Roosevelt Program

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Certain advisors of President Roosevelt were assailed by former Senator James E. Watson, Republican of Indiana, at a local party rally, for what he said was an attempt to "overthrow capitalism and Sovietize the American government."

The one-time Hoosier solon, for years a leader in Republican ranks in the Senate until his defeat last November, did not mention names of the men he held responsible as he voiced a bitter attack on the Democratic regime at the Hamilton Club yesterday.

His remarks were based on dispatches of September 9, quoting Louis P. Alber, chief of the Speakers' division of the National Recovery Act as saying a "primer of the NRA and the Roosevelt program will be sent into the schools of the country."

Why NRA Prices?
The NRA was set up to employ labor, increase wages and enhance the purchasing power of the people," said Watson. "What on earth was a primer in the public schools to do with these questions?"

The only explanation he said he could give to it was that "certain gentlemen surrounding the President—and I believe without his sanction or authority—are attempting to carry the provisions of this law into realms it was never intended to enter, namely, the entire socialization of industry in the United States, the overthrow of capitalism and the Sovietization of the American government."

Cites 'Failures'
Then he accused the administration of failing to reduce governmental costs; of failure to maintain a stable currency; and of failure to prevent undermining of government credit, and said the federal relief plan went far beyond Republican proposals which he said brought such strong criticism a year ago.

Listeners took the address as sounding the Republican keynote for the coming congressional elections. J. W. Maloney, chairman of the Political Action Committee of the club, went so far as to plead that Indiana and Illinois get behind Watson for the Presidency in 1936.

However, Watson himself was not inclined to discuss his prospects and turned his two and a half hour address into other channels.

Double Shooting In Union's Office

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(AP)—William Hogan, 70, was in a critical condition today after seriously wounding Frank C. Olsen, 40, secretary of the Chicago Theatrical Protective Union, and then turning the gun upon himself.

The double shooting occurred yesterday in the union offices in the loop and was witnessed by eight members and a switchboard operator, Hogan, with a bullet in his head, told police he was a member of the organization and had been attempting without success to get a job from Olsen for months.

"I shot him because I believed the union would be better off with somebody else in his place," he said. Police found Hogan still conscious but lying on the floor of the office when they arrived. Olsen was struck under the right eye.

Fakirs Prosper By Bogus Use Of AP "Credentials"

New York Sept. 28.—(AP)—For an organization which issues nothing of the sort, The Associated Press has a new collection of "credential" cards and badges.

They have been picked up throughout the years in various parts of the country and many a tale of gullibility accompanies them. Although the organization has repeatedly announced that it issues no cards and that anyone claiming to have such a credential may be set down as a fakir, hotel managers and shop keepers continue to be taken in by the glib flashers of "press cards."

The "racket" in most cases, amounts to the passing of a new badge checks. The self-styled reporter or "correspondent" says he is working out of some distant office, has run short of funds and presents a card which invariably bespeaks "courtesies an consideration" for the bearer.

Sometimes the correct name of The Associated Press is used and in a few instances signatures of actual officials have been forged. More often, the name is twisted or changed and the signatures are entirely fictitious. The magic word "press" is conspicuously printed across the entire cards in most cases.

An entirely different "racket" exists in the photographic field. A photographer, posing as a member of the AP photo service staff, makes a portrait of some prominent person and then attempts to sell the subject a sizeable photograph or order. Sometimes the impostor resorts to semi-blackmail, insinuating that if an order is received the person's picture has a good chance of being published in various newspapers.

Mrs. Margaret A. Butterbaugh, Polo Pioneer, Is Called

(Telegraph Special Service)
Polo, Sept. 28.—Mrs. Margaret Anne Butterbaugh, widow of the late Emanuel Butterbaugh, to whom she was married in 1892 and who preceded her in death 49 years ago, passed away at the home of her son Alva, between Polo and Mt. Morris this morning, after an illness of some duration. Funeral arrangements had not been completed early this afternoon pending receipt of word from a son in California.

Margaret Anne Fahrney was born in Maryland, March 18, 1844, coming to Polo with her parents in childhood, and this community has since been her home. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Savilla Rowland of Sterling, and Mrs. Cora Plum of Polo; four sons, Charles of Oregon, Alva of Mt. Morris, Harvey of Dixon and Willard of La Verne, Calif.; and one brother, Alvin Fahrney of Dixon.

According to one authority, "set" is the most important word in the English language.

BELIEVE SOME OF FUGITIVES NEAR OTTAWA

Two Men Who Asked Direction To Peoria Tho't Convicts

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Police Chief W. C. Condit today said a Lincoln garage man had identified pictures of James "Oklahoma Jack" Clark and Walter Dietrich as men who stopped here yesterday. Clark and Dietrich were among ten convicts who escaped Tuesday from the Indiana state prison.

Ottawa, Ill., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Some of the escaped Michigan City, Ind., convicts may be hiding near here, Sheriff E. J. Walter notified prison authorities today.

One of two men who stopped in Ottawa last night to buy gasoline fits the description, Sheriff Walter said, of William Dietrich, who fled with nine others after slugging and shooting their way out of the Indiana prison.

The two carried a sawed-off shotgun and a pump gun in their car. Identification of Dietrich's companion was more difficult, but prison officials told Sheriff Walter the second man roughly answered the description of Russell Clark, believed to be with Dietrich, a facial scar and a squint helped identify Dietrich.

Driving a dark green sedan with no license plates, they refueled their car at a station less than 75 feet from the Ottawa police station last night. Andrew Claus, attendant, said both wore gray trousers, but had secured topsuits and caps.

In the rear of their car were the two guns. The pair asked the way to Peoria, Claus reported.

FEAR FOR SHERIFF

Chesterton, Ind., Sept. 28.—(AP)—There was a growing apprehension today that Sheriff Charles Neel of Corydon, Ind., may have been slain by four of the ten convicts who slugged and shot their way out of the Indiana state prison last Tuesday.

Captain Mathew Leach, in command of the Indiana State Police, Friday said he was worried over the fate of the missing Sheriff, who was kidnapped by the escaping felons, and that his men would concentrate their efforts on an attempt to find the Sheriff, rather than the capture of the missing convicts.

"We'll get them sooner or later anyway," he predicted.

Soldiers Join Police
Meanwhile 200 National Guardsmen were ordered to join the police in their search for the convicts, who have been reported seen in various places. One report had four or five of the desperadoes in Chicago. Another sent officers hurrying to a spot near Valparaiso, while a third caused 150 officers to surround a wooded tract near McCool, Ind. No trace of the missing men, however, was found.

The report that some of the convicts may be hiding in Chicago followed an attempt of Hammond, Ind., police to arrest four men, suspected of being members of the group of ten missing fellows. The Hammond police pursued an automobile containing the four men into Chicago, but were outdistanced.

Captain Leach last night detained for questioning Steven Trumbull, complaining that he was in charge of a broadcast over a nation-wide network that erroneously described the activities of the police. He said it told of a "fierce gun battle" between the escaped prisoners and the police, and added that there was no truth to the report.

Trumbull was later released.

Described 'Battle'
Trumbull denied today that the broadcast had been erroneous, saying that the "gun battle" was provided by three police officers and a civilian who stood near the microphone and fired their revolvers spontaneously in their enthusiasm. They were not asked to do it, he said.

The broadcast took place in the yard of the home of Mrs. Thelma Gustafson and consisted, Trumbull said, of her description of an encounter she had with the desperadoes when they stopped to inquire directions of her.

A force of 150 men focused a search for Sheriff Neel and his captors around Deep River, on Route 30 west of Valparaiso. The posse stamped through the woods and along the highway, working northward but without uncovering any trace of the fugitives.

Slayer Of Three Is Sent To Prison

East St. Louis, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Anton Lutz, 60, who killed three neighbors in a rage July 10 when one of them suggested he draw his window shades while disrobing, pleaded guilty to murder in East St. Louis court yesterday and was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge F. Borders.

KELLEY ADMITS—

zation of his client's guilt because Fitzgerald set Luer free after the ransom was not forthcoming.

"Here is the man who turned Luer loose, according to the testimony," the attorney said. "Bear in mind, we have admitted nothing, but that is what the state has told you. Mr. Luer has also told you that Fitzgerald said, 'I am sorry we had you here. If I had known you were an old man I'd never have got in on this.'"

"Is that the speech of the colorful man pictured by the state? I feel sure if Mr. Luer could be asked about the punishment due my client he would say that Mr. Fitzgerald should not be punished at all."

At this point a slight ripple of laughter went through the courtroom and hissing was heard. Wiseman objected to the demonstration and the court ordered the jury to ignore it.

Wiseman was followed by Donald F. Buckley, attorney for Mike Mulda, another defendant, on whose farm Luer was held prisoner. Attorneys for Gitcho Norvell and Christ Nicola Gitcho had preceded Wiseman with arguments for their clients.

The other defendants are Mrs. Lillian Chessen and her husband, Charles Chessen, Harold J. Brandy, their attorney, the last of defense counsel to speak, pleaded for their acquittal and scored Norvell as "a cringing cow, trying to hide behind the petticoats of a woman."

His plea was typical of testimony during the nearly three weeks of the trial. On the stand the various defendants sought to clear themselves at the expense of their alleged accomplices in the kidnap plot.

State Asks Chair
The state, seeking to send the six persons to the electric chair, has capitalized on the lack of unity among defense counsel and their clients.

Norvell testified he was forced into the kidnapping by Mrs. Chessen and "Irish" O'Malley, now a fugitive, and said Mrs. Chessen, at the point of a revolver, forced him to write a note demanding $16,000 and the aged banker was released without payment of ransom.

"This is a timid man," said Brandy ironically. "He is a cringing violet who participates in crime because he is afraid not to do it. He has operated gambling houses, he has been a bootlegger, he is an airplane pilot, yet he may be forced into a dastardly crime by an aging woman."

"He tells you that he lived through the kidnapping in fear, that he was glad to get away from the kidnapers. Yet the night Mr. Luer was released he went up and bearded this she-wolf in her den. He stayed there for three hours, looking down the barrel of a pistol he says."

Mrs. Chessen wept as the attorney waved his hand in her direction during Norvell's indictment.

"Timid? He is not timid!" Brandy continued. "He is a cringing cat trying to hide behind the petticoat of a woman."

The case was expected to be placed in the hands of the jury late today.

TO A POET IN THE MEDITERRANEAN

MEDITERRANEAN wanderer, haunting the shrines of the poets.

Surges and strains no homeward prayer in thy heart for the free—

There where earth and ocean plead for the freedom-loves

Torrent and crag for Byron, for Shelley the stars and the sea?

Never so far they wandered, never so dear their exile

But their hearts still beat in England, and still her need was near

How they would bid thee, poet, harken thy country's anguish,

If thou so far canst hear it, or carest at all to hear!

What Vergilian odors of earth, what silvery-fountained

Garden that lulled Catullus's heartache draws thee now,

Where olive and ilex bear their freight of a poet's blossoms—

Breath and blood of the Muses in the scent and sap of the bough?

Would thou were here, my poet, where rioting orchards take us,

Meadows dreams waylay us that lurk in the mothering loam,

And over the hillroads set with whitening shoals of laurel,

Clear as the heaven of Italy, the Northern skies of home!

—John Erskine, in "Collected Poems." (New York: Duffield)

Gap Grove P. T. A. Organized Monday

The patrons of the Gap Grove school district met at the school house Monday evening where during the first part of the evening, they enjoyed a bountiful picnic supper.

The chief feature of the evening, however, were the organization of a Parent-Teachers' Association.

William Carlsen, president of the school board, presided. During the business session the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President—Mrs. Hazel Brauer.

Vice President—Mrs. Hazel Lennox.

Sec. and Treasurer—Miss Anna Lawton.

It was voted to hold the meetings the second Thursday evening in each school month.

It was gratifying to those interested in this organization to have this first meeting so largely attended and to have the spirit of enthusiasm so well maintained throughout the evening. A large number signed as members.

At the close of the meeting those present enjoyed a short visit and then returned to their homes looking forward with anticipation to the program for the coming months.

1 cup chopped dates

2-3 cup nuts

2 cups rolled oats, browned

2 1-4 cups flour

1 teaspoon soda

1 teaspoon baking powder

Cream the fat and sugar. Add cream and eggs and mix well. Add rest of ingredients and drop portions from tip of spoon onto greased baking sheets. Flatten with the back of spoon. Bake 12 minutes in moderate oven.

The oats are improved in flavor if they are sprinkled on a shallow pan and browned in a moderate oven.

Riverside P. T. A. Meeting Enjoyed

The first meeting of the Riverside P. T. A. this fall was held on Friday evening at the schoolhouse.

The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Joseph Bieschke. All joined in singing the chorus of "Smiles," led by Elmer Whitney, and for the sake of the Tom McWethy family, "Auld Lang Syne" was sung.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary.

At this time the President appointed delegates to attend the P. T. A. Conference which is to be held in Dixon.

The Ogle county council meeting convenes in Oregon Oct. 11th and Mrs. Bieschke asked all who could attend to do so. Owing to this meeting our local P. T. A. will not meet during October.

The school children delighted all with two numbers.

Piano solo—Darlene Floto.

September Poems—Third grade.

(Vivian Floto, Billie Bieschke, Kenneth Gundie, Roy Whitney.)

Mrs. Elmer Whitney, chairman of the committee took charge at this time giving the following enjoyable program:

Music, Guitar and Mouth-Organ—Myron Austin, Dixon.

Reading—Arlene Ives, Franklin Grove.

Music—Myron Austin.

Reading—Robert Whitney.

Remarks—Tom McWethy.

Mr. McWethy expressed their regret at leaving us and would always maintain a deep interest in our school.

Mr. McWethy and family have always been willing to lend of their ability and time for the uplift of our community. It is indeed with deep regret that we see this family leave, and the best of wishes go with them.

A guessing contest, consisting of music terms closed this part of the program and the meeting adjourned.

The program committee served delicious refreshments.

Home Coming at Walton a Great Success

The home coming at Walton last Sunday was a huge success. The ideal autumn day brought a large crowd to Walton celebrating the 20th anniversary of St. Mary's Catholic parish. Friends and former parishioners from many distant points spent the day at the village.

Two baseball games were features of the afternoon program, and this was followed by a chicken supper served by the ladies of the parish in the evening. A dancing party concluded the day's festivities.

Philharmonic Orchestra Concert a Rare Treat To All

The large audience which greeted the Dixon Philharmonic Orchestra last night in the dining hall of the Masonic Temple was made most agreeably aware of the notable progress shown in the playing of this organization in this, their third concert. Director Samuelson is to be heartily congratulated on his success in bringing the orchestra up to its present state of efficiency. This has been accomplished in spite of many obstacles, and represents the fruit of hard work and faithful attendance on the part of its members at rehearsals throughout the warm evenings of the past summer. It was truly a delight to listen to the opening number, the Overture to Rossini's "Barber of Seville." What memories the jolly old piece awakened of student days in the music school, when we used to essay its performance with an arrangement for eight hands on two pianos. As played by the orchestra, the composition was presented with a due sense of its whimsical and semi-barbaric character.

In contrasting mood, this was followed by Liszt's "Liebestraum," or "Dream of Love," the luscious and romantic harmonies of which were greatly enhanced by the colorful addition of the harp, played by Miss Helen Lohmann of Rockford.

A selection of favorite airs from "Madame Butterfly" closed the first group. Only a generation ago, the music of Puccini was regarded as quite modernistic; now we characterize it as richly colored, but conservative. During the intermission, a collection was taken to cover expenses of the concert. Following this the orchestra played "Wiener Blut," one of Strauss' famous waltzes. Three songs were presented by Mrs. Lester Wilhelm, Arthur Penn's "Lampit Hour," it's lovely flowing melody being well adapted to the liquid mezzo quality of Mrs. Wilhelm's voice. Victor Herbert's "Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Gypsy Love Song" are prime favorites with all; their very familiarity making most exacting demands upon a singer, in that attention, is concentrated upon the words of the artist. Mrs. Wilhelm imbued the rendition of these songs with a vitality and warmth of temperament, amply fulfilling the expectations of the many admirers of her artistic ability.

On of the delights of the evening was the violin playing of Mr. F. Lundstrom. This young artist who came from Oregon, Ill. knows the secrets of the King of instruments. Technical mastery, perfect intonation, and a pure tone of ethereal sweetness, were most satisfying qualities of Mr. Lundstrom's playing. The three numbers for violin were "Valse Triste," Sibelius; "Slavonic Dance," Dvorak-Kreisler, and "Spanish Dance," No. 1. Rehef. Mr. Lundstrom was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. H. A. Smith of Oregon. Mrs. Smith's keen interest in and support of musical matters are deserving of the highest commendation.

"To Saint-Saens' "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," Mrs. Wilhelm gave the song of the siren, Delilah, a sweetly appealing interpretation, rather than an over impassioned rendition. She was ably supported in the piano accompaniment by Mrs. Flora Horner whose fine musicianship both in this, as well as in the orchestral ensemble should be mentioned here with sincere words of praise. Probably the best work of the orchestra was manifest in the selection from "Cavalleria Rusticana," one of its choice moments being the lovely cello melody.

dy played by Robert Smith with harp accompaniment by Miss Lohmann.

Mendelssohn's famous march, which we usually hear performed on a church organ at the close of a wedding ceremony, was given a rejuvenating charm by its orchestral presentation.

Altogether, the Philharmonic concert furnished us an evening of most gratifying delight. We shall eagerly watch the development of this organization. To Mr. Samuelson, with his dauntless enthusiasm, and highly capable leadership, it should be a matter of civic pride to give our whole-hearted cooperation.

A Post Nuptial Shower for Bride

Mrs. William Kruse was hostess to about thirty friends Saturday afternoon at a miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Harvey Anderson of Walnut, a recent bride. Bunco was played at six tables, favors in the game being won by Mrs. Alva Poss and Mrs. Anna Murray. Each guest presented the bride with her favorite recipe, after which the bride opened her gifts which proved to be things useful and beautiful. Mrs. Kruse served a delightful lunch.

SAMPLE OF SOCIETY IN A. D. 1933

Guessing about what the historians of the future are going to put into their text-books is a futile and profitless pastime, ordinarily. But it seems a pretty safe bet that they will find at least a couple of paragraphs for that kidnapping trial now going on in Oklahoma City.

More than any other criminal trial in years, perhaps, this case is symbolic of the present era. Not since Al Capone was sent to prison for failing to pay his income tax has there been a court room scene that spoke so eloquently of the kind of society we have put together in modern America.

For the trial does not simply represent an effort by the courts to fix responsibility for a peculiarly insolent crime. It is a test whether the courts can even make such an effort in the first place; whether society's ability to inquire into the acts of the underworld is to be at the mercy of the underworld's own defiance.

Consider the situation for a moment. To begin with, we have a vicious attempt to extort a large sum of money from a wealthy man—a crime whose mere occurrence indicates a crack in the fabric of society.

Then the man suspected of having cooked up this crime is caught. He forces his way out of one of the strongest jails in the land, is caught again, and finally comes to trial.

At his trial the authorities feel it necessary to turn the court into a veritable armed camp. The room is guarded by machine guns, riflemen patrol the corridors, officers in court are ordered to open fire on the chief defendant if anything suspicious happens.

Meanwhile the underworld puts pressure on the state's witnesses. Written threats of death are received. One witness is bluntly asked, "Are you fool enough to think the government can protect you forever?" The chief defendant makes "sinister asides" whenever the chief prosecutor rises to speak.

Now all of this simply means that there are desperadoes in this land whose power is almost as great as that of organized society itself. The mere task of bringing them to trial taxes society's resources to the utmost. The whole story of the trial will tell future students volumes about American life in the year 1933.

DEATH OF A PRE-WAR DIPLOMAT

Viscount Grey of Fallodon, dead at 71, won a place in history which will certainly be secure but which is not entirely enviable.

It was Grey who, as foreign secretary in 1914, took England into the war; and as the English ever since 1918 have been nourishing a slow suspicion that the war caused practically all of their troubles, it is not surprising that this veteran diplomat suffered a kind of eclipse in his last years.

For Grey will stand for a long time as an epitome of the kind of diplomacy that was so common before the war—the kind that thrived on secret agreements, secret understandings and the jargon of what H. G. Wells has called the "great power game."

Prior to 1914 the average Englishman calmly assumed that England could not be embroiled in any European war unless the people of England as a whole wished to be embroiled. It was Viscount Grey, as much as anyone, who had to dispel this illusion.

Like practically every other chancellery in Europe, the English foreign office saw the war coming long before it actually arrived. It is possible that the ease with which all the diplomats saw its approach was one of the reasons why it finally came. But at any rate the British foreign office, having visioned war from afar, got ready for it by making certain agreements with the French foreign office concerning united action against Germany.

Thus, when the storm clouds finally broke, the people of England did not have a free hand. Their diplomats had committed them in advance. When Grey laid the whole situation before Parliament, there was only one answer that could be made. To all intents and purposes, it was impossible for England to remain neutral. The invasion of Belgium rallied Englishmen to the standard, but the die had already been cast.

Now to recount all of this is not to condemn Viscount Grey. He was an able, sincere and patriotic man. There is no doubt that he actually wanted peace. He did his best according to his lights, and it was hardly his fault if his lights were wrong.

It is the kind of diplomacy he represented that needs condemnation. The World War was a product of that diplomacy; and a world which is still suffering from the war can hardly be blamed for concluding that the diplomacy was an expensive sort of luxury.

There are too many young specialists. They come out of school and suddenly they are specialists.—Dr. William J. Mayo, famous surgeon.

I've given up the idea of retiring. There's too much work to be done and too short a time to do it in.—Major Gen. Hugh L. Scott.

Spain is finished with royalty for good.—Prince of Asturias.

Everyday Religion

TURN OFF THE TALK!

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

"After that there was nothing more to be said, and I said nothing." So a great British soldier summed up a crisis in his life. The Prime Minister could not get on with him, said a friend in confidence, and that ended it. There was no more to say.

It sounds simple enough, but it is a hard thing to do. Not one man in a thousand is wise enough to know when the highest wisdom is to say nothing. In nine cases of ten we go too far, forgetting that to overshoot the mark is as fatal as to fall short of it.

If only an orator knew how to stop when he has finished, it would save us a lot of punishment. Nothing is sadder than to see a fine climax fade into a frazzled anti-climax for lack of tact. How often a preacher, lured on by a pet quotation or a flowery peroration, ruins a sincere sermon and loses the verdict he is seeking.

In a domestic debate, too, everything depends upon knowing when there is no more to be said. But, alas, we are carried past the terminus, hot tempers flare up, hard words are said, and feelings are hurt. If a picture of our hearts could be taken, it would show all sorts of scars made by cutting words said in the heat of anger.

Even a religious discussion may sink into a bitter dispute, and the holiest things are injured. No wonder Penn said, "Men who fight about religion have no religion to fight about, since they do in the name of religion the thing which religion itself forbids." Yet how often it has been so, because good men did not know when to stop.

A Russian story tells of two farmers whose crops had been swept away by a flood. They went to the top of a hill, surveyed the ruin, shook their heads, and went home. There was nothing more to be said. At times life does things to us, takes things from us, leaving us bewildered and forlorn. It does no good to rail at it.

When God speaks it is time to turn off our talk and be still, if perchance by listening we may learn what words cannot tell. Copyright, 1933, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

"The wagon has me curious," said Goldy. "I think one of us should peek into the window." "Go ahead," wee Duncy cried. "If someone else will lend a hand, I'll boost you up. Why, you can stand right up on both our shoulders and then take a look inside."

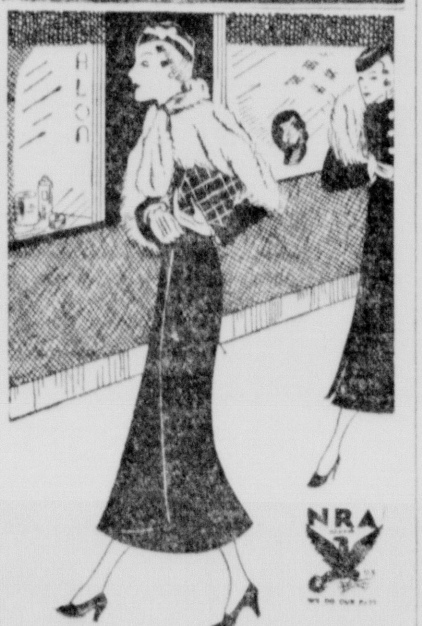

The stick was brought and Scouty tried his luck and then he loudly cried, "Look out! The door is loose now, lads, and it is going to fall!"

Then, sure enough, right down it fell. The Tynymites let out a yell! "Hurray! It is a pony, and a little dandy, too!" The tricky pony then ran out and all the bunch heard Scouty shout, "I'm sure that we will have a lot of fun before we're through." (The pony plays a trick on Duncy in the next story.)

"What is it? Tell us!" Duncy cried. "There must be something fine inside. Is this a bakery wagon that is filled up high with pies?" "Or, maybe it's a milk cart. Gee, some milk would sure appeal to me," "Ha, ha," laughed Goldy. "Just you wait. 'Twill open up your eyes!"

"I don't think I will tell you, now. I'll let you try and find out how to open up the wagon. Then we'll have a lot of fun."

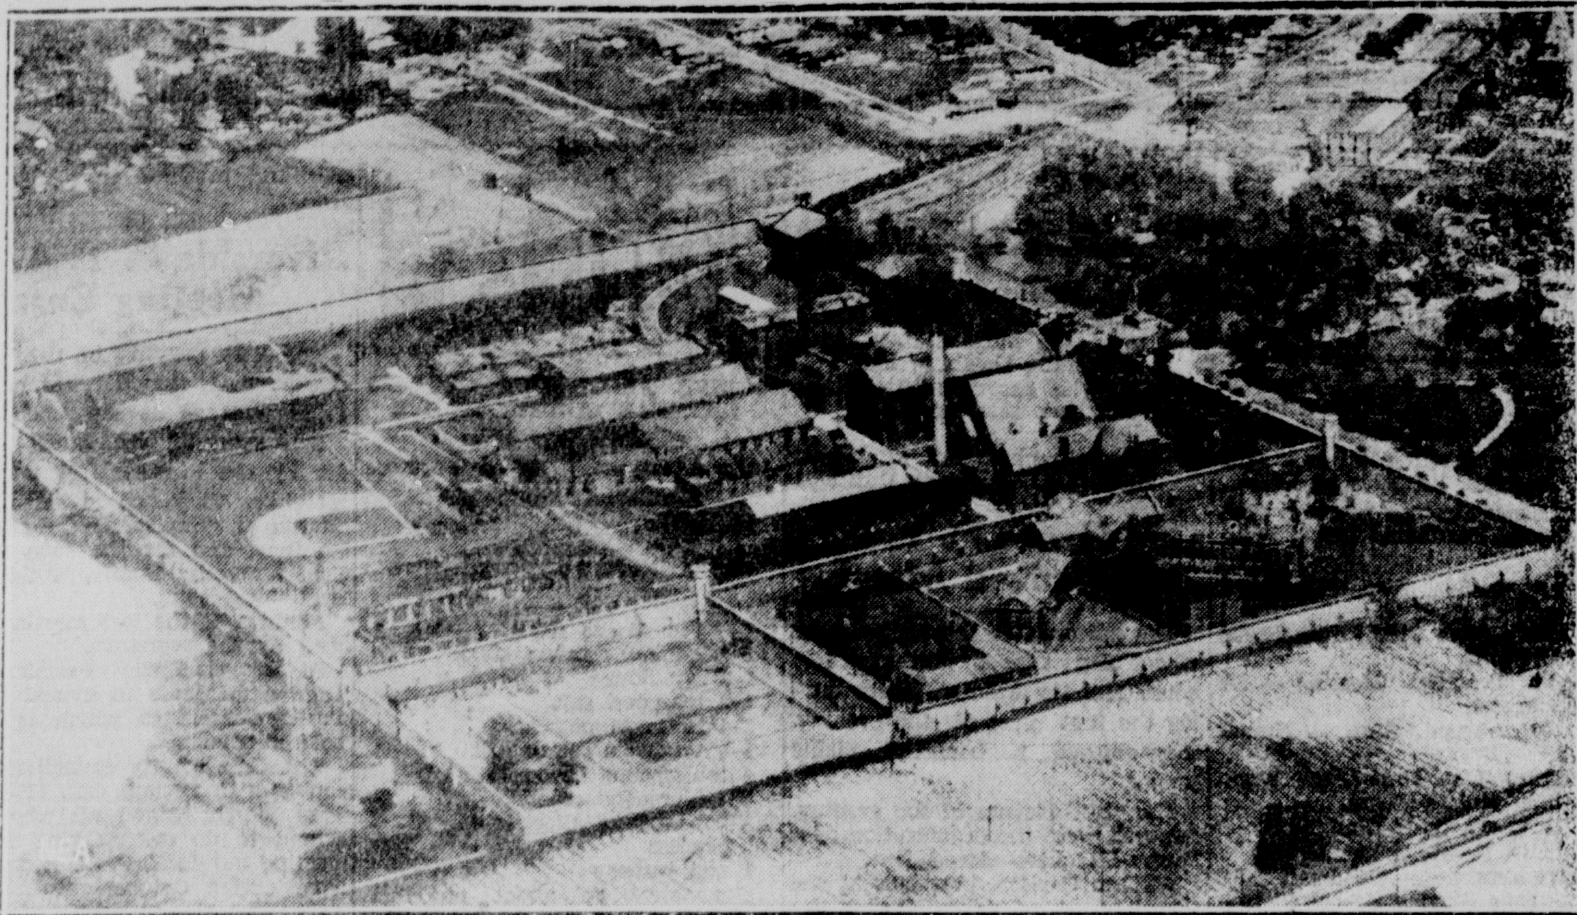

"I guess the wagon-back's a door that flops down and acts as a floor." "Why, sure! It's held by bolts," cried Scouty. "I can now see one."

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SAUL IN TARSUS

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.

From the Old Testament stories of national development and struggle in Israel, we make a long journey to study the life of the apostle Paul. But though the journey is long in time and brings us into a larger world, the essential problems are much the same. In this great missionary apostle of the early church we have an opportunity to study the fruition of all that was great in the courage and faith of Israel.

The world had changed in the centuries that had elapsed. The Jews themselves had become dispersed throughout the world, and from an area left to the struggles of tribes and minor kingdoms the land of Palestine after having been long pawn in the game of contending empires, had now become an important political and commercial factor, a link between East and West in a unified world under the domination of Imperial Rome.

The glory of Persia, and of Greece had risen and departed and Rome with its iron hand had attained the zenith of its power. The field was ripe for world vision and a world movement in religion and Saul of Tarsus, soon to become the Christian Paul, was the man of destiny born to serve the age.

Our studies begin with Saul in his native Tarsus. By piecing together various sections of the Acts and Epistles, we have brought before us a rather vivid and fairly adequate picture of Paul's early life. He was a Jew of Tarsus, brought up in the strict Pharisaism of a devout Jewish home, but a Roman citizen in an age when that possession was limited and highly prized, and evidently a man whose family was of some substance.

That Paul should have been a tent maker and brought up to serve a trade was not unusual. It was the distinctive quality of Jewish teaching and custom to instill habits of industry and to attach proper honor to all labor. It was also a Jewish quality to lay great stress upon education, and Paul's parents had seen to it that he had been well schooled. He had been sent even to distant Jerusalem that he might have the benefits of sitting under the great teacher, Gamaliel.

The result of all this background of early environment and training is that when Paul appears in our scene we have a man of intense convictions whose pride in his Roman citizenship and whose admiration for a great empire, in which he sees an instrument of peace and of justice, do not interfere with the intensity of his loyalty to his own race and his own religion.

After a long period of terrible persecution the Jews under the Roman Empire had found a measure of freedom. It was entirely consistent with the exercise of Paul's religion that he should admire the system that had brought comparative peace and liberty to the Jews and that had made possible the colonization of the Jews in various parts of the empire.

But living in pagan and licentious surroundings Paul had made no compromise with the evil of the ancient world. He was, as he described himself, "A Hebrew of the Hebrews," a man of strict and devout practice, well disciplined in what he conceived to be right, and so strong of will that even after he had come to see the error of his life and to call himself "the chief of sinners," he could none the less, look back upon his past career with the declaration that he had lived in all good conscience, striving always to do the right as he saw it.

This is the man whose life career we are to study in the lessons of this quarter. It is the story of a world citizen with a world vision enlarged into a sense of the glory of the eternal world going forth in a great enterprise of real Christian imperialism.

WHY WORRY through the slipperiest months of the year on smooth-worn, bald-treaded tires?

Smart drivers know that they need new tires more in fall and winter than any other time in the year—they know that new rubber wears almost twice as well in cold weather, which means it will still be almost new in the spring—they know that it costs money and may be dangerous to wring out the last few hundred miles.

That's why it pays to buy new Goodyears now. By actual test on wet pavements, they stop your car quicker than any other tire regardless of make or design—and 77% quicker than smooth-worn tires. GOVERNOR HORNER ISSUES CALL FOR SPECIAL SESSION

Action On Nine Issues
Authorized By The Chief Executive

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 28—(AP)—Financing of unemployment relief and enabling legislation for public works will be the major issue before the Illinois General Assembly when it meets in special session at 10 A. M. Tuesday.

Governor Horner's official proclamation calling the law-makers back to the Capitol, issued late yesterday, authorized action on nine subjects, the first of which is:

"To enact laws to provide funds for the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission to be used for the relief of persons who are destitute and in necessitous circumstances." The administration's plan for meeting the relief emergency this fall and winter is a $30,000,000 bond issue, to be retired by the counties participating from their receipts from the state gasoline tax. The bond issue, requested by Federal officials and opposed by some town state legislators, was not mentioned in the formal call, which limits the subjects propounded the scope of activity at the first special session.

Recovery Proposals
Horner asked that Illinois participate in the Roosevelt recovery program by passing laws:

To give municipalities and other governmental units full power to obtain Federal public works funds for construction projects, to be paid for by revenue bonds.

To permit mutual building and loan associations to cooperate with the Federal mortgage relief program by accepting bonds of the Home Owners Loan Corporation.

To authorize political subdivisions to obtain public works funds by leasing or selling their property to Federal agencies which would finance construction and permit rental of the projects for municipal purposes.

To coordinate the Illinois free employment offices with similar Federal activities.

The Governor also gave the Assembly authority to enact legislation in regard to interest on state deposits, to remove ambiguity regarding the time for current tax levies by county board and to make appropriations for proposed new laws and for the expense of the special session.

Except for unemployment relief, the agenda is regarded as largely non-controversial. A second special session is to be called later to discuss the control of liquor sales, anticipating prohibition repeal, and other subjects undoubtedly will be included in the second call.

To Supplement Revenues
The $30,000,000 bond issue is expected to be similar to the $20,000,000 issue approved last year for relief. It is to supplement revenues from the two percent sales tax and was insisted upon by the Federal relief officials who advanced partial funds for two months upon the government's promise of special session action.

There are pre-session indications of a controversy over the relief program. Several downstate representatives have urged repeal of the sales tax, and a movement is on foot to repeal the vetoed Lantz bills, which would authorize local relief taxes in Cook county, where most of the unemployment funds are being spent.

Emergency action at a special session requires a two-thirds vote in each house.

The public works legislation would smooth the way for attempts by more than 150 municipalities to take advantage of Federal grants. The Governor's committee on unemployment has recommended projects totaling nearly $10,000,000, of which several have been finally approved.

Administration leaders feel that changes in the state law, so as to coordinate them with the Federal statutes, would speed up the employment of men on construction jobs.

Proposals have been made for the Chicago Sanitary District, which is unable to finance sewage disposal works ordered by the Supreme Court of the United States, to lease its property to the Federal government, which would complete the construction and accept payment from operating rentals. This might also be done for the South Park Board at Chicago.

The Attorney General recently ruled that building and loan associations cannot accept the Home Owners' Loan Bonds, which were designed to lessen the need of foreclosures.

PILLAR OF SALT

The three stages in the evolution of theatre-going man: first, from six to sixteen, when he attends westerns and sits in the front row; second, from sixteen to matrimony, when he attends amorous tales and sits in the last row with his lady; and third, from marriage to golden anniversary, when he simply tells the usher to put the family "about half way down."

There may have been a fellow from Dixon, who asked at the library for a book entitled "State Statutes, Revised", and was handed a report on "Reconditioned Monuments in State Parks."

At the Fair: A young boy had attempted to pass through a gate where there was no turnstile, and thus to see the show free of charge. An attendant saw him, and the boy saw the attendant at the same time. They stood staring at each other for a long time. The guard won the staring contest when the boy said, in fleeing, "Yeah, but look at the start you had."

When the men who had assembled to draw up the American Constitution had debated among themselves on certain points for many days, it seemed certain that the conference would fail in its purpose. It was Franklin who then suggested that each meeting be opened with a prayer. But Hamilton objected on the grounds that the convention was not in need of "foreign aid." And, incidentally, the meetings were not opened with prayers.

WHY GET UP NIGHTS?

Lax the Bladder With Juniper Oil, Buchu, Etc.
Drive out the impurities and excess acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Juniper oil is pleasant to take in the form of BUKETS the bladder laxative, also containing Buchu leaves, etc. Works on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box from any drug store. After four days if not relieved of "getting up nights" go back and get your money. If you are bothered with backache or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Rowland's Pharmacy says BUKETS is a best seller.—Adv.

LEE COUNTY PRODUCTION ASSN. IS FORMED AT AMBOY

Permanent Organization
To Follow Meeting
Held This Week

At a meeting held at Amboy, on Monday afternoon the Lee County Production Credit Association was organized for the purpose of securing credit for land owners and tenants who can offer personal property, including livestock, crops or grain, as security. Territory to be served includes Lee County, south half of DeKalb and all of Bureau County. It is understood that the DeKalb and Bureau county territories will be released when similar organizations are organized in those counties.

Twenty-eight farmers attended the meeting, following a notice published in local papers, to hear L. F. Gilmore, Field Representative of the newly organized Production Credit Corporation of St. Louis, discuss the plan of organizing and benefits of a local association.

The Production Credit Corporation of St. Louis is one unit of four organizations now centered at the Federal Land Bank at St. Louis. The Corporation was recently organized under the farm credit administration to furnish capital stock to local associations for the purpose of organizing and to supervise the making of loans through local associations such as the Lee County Production Credit Association.

After full discussion by those present it was voted to organize the Lee County Production Credit Association and the following are the original incorporators:

Clarence Hart, C. L. Ramsdell, H. S. Nichols, C. H. Risetter, C. E. Spangler, A. T. Tourillott, R. W. Ramsdell, W. F. Ulte, John A. Gleim, E. L. McCracken, Raymond Delhot, W. F. Fitzpatrick, Edward Morrissey, C. E. Walker and Emil A. Mielke.

Following the election of the incorporators, a Board of Directors was elected consisting of the following:

W. F. Fitzpatrick, Amboy
R. W. Ramsdell, Franklin Grove,
C. H. Risetter, Lee
A. T. Tourillott, Dixon,
Carl Spangler, Franklin Grove.

As soon as the charter is granted, which will probably be within two or three weeks, a permanent organization will be formed and the Association will be ready for business.

Those interested in securing funds and who are able to offer beef cattle, dairy cattle or other livestock, grain or other personal property as security might get in touch with any of the above mentioned Directors or with L. F. Gilmore or C. E. Yale, at Amboy, Lee Co. Farm Bureau.

Pork Distribution To Illinois' Needy To Begin October 7

Chicago, Sept. 28—(AP)—Persons on unemployment relief rolls in Illinois stood a good chance today of dining soon on 7,100,000 pounds of pork slaughtered in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration's drive to reduce the hog market.

The Illinois Emergency Relief Commission announced yesterday that it would take over distribution of the pork in the state and that 1,771,000 pounds would be ready for shipment by Oct. 7.

The commission also announced that it would undertake to act as a distributor of flour by signing large scale contracts with the mills, and that possibly other food products would be allotted to it by the government as result of its plan of buying up agricultural surpluses.

CHEST COMPLICATIONS

Measles, influenza and whooping cough are respiratory infections which stand in a group by themselves. The first two, measles and influenza, are, when uncomplicated, relatively mild conditions. Whooping cough is virtually always a serious disease.

However, these three respiratory infections are particularly dangerous because of their complications. Broncho-pneumonia is probably the most common of these.

Many cases of measles go untreated or are only superficially watched. It is worth while, therefore, to know something of the danger signs of complications in this disease.

In measles the complication of broncho-pneumonia is likely to develop when the skin rash appears, or shortly thereafter.

In the uncomplicated measles case there is a marked drop in temperature shortly after the full appearance of the rash. Should this drop in temperature not take place, and should the patient, on the contrary, retain a high temperature, with rapid respiration and with a rapid pulse, there is warrant for believing that all is not going on as well as it should be.

In addition to broncho-pneumonia, the measles patient may suffer the complication of cute edema of the lungs, popularly described as "water in the lungs."

The patient when suffering acute edema of the lungs, issues bubbling sounds in breathing, is short of breath, and may show signs of oxygen starvation by the bluish color of his lips. At times his sputum is blood-tinged.

Measles and whooping cough may lead to other lung complications, among these the so-called pulmonary fibrosis and bronchiectases.

In these conditions there is a narrowing of the size of the bronchi and an enlargement of the air spaces into sack-like cavities. Pus may accumulate in these spaces, causing the sufferer to undergo periodic attacks of fever.

Tomorrow—Pneumothorax.

'BREAKS' MIGHT HAVE GIVEN A'S OR YANKS HONOR

Either Team Able To Win If Given Effective Pitching

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr. (Associated Press Sports Writer) With a few more "breaks", especially in the matter of pitching, it might have been one of those old standbys, the New York Yankees or Philadelphia Athletics, who walked off with the American League pennant this year instead of Washington's Senators.

Those two clubs, which have monopolized the flag for the past seven years, still are capable of playing plenty of good baseball. They have given ample evidence of this in the past few weeks, but through the entire season neither one developed a slab department that could stand up under the strain of pennant competition. When they got the pitching they usually won. When the pressure of the pennant chase was eased both started winning streaks and when they split a doubleheader yesterday it was the 15th victory in 20 games for each. The Yanks had four losses and a tie in the string and the A's five defeats.

Pitching Effective Playing the same brand of ball, the strength and weaknesses of both teams came out clearly in the bargain bill. Lefty Gomez was more effective on the hill than Lefty Grove in the opener and the Yankees won 7 to 0. Johnny Marcum, the rookie "wonder" from Louisville, gave Philadelphia the pitching in the afterpiece and won his third major league victory, 10 to 1. The sluggers of both teams went right along with the flingers. Lou Gehrig, the less colorful but still highly effective successor to Babe Ruth as the Yankees' big batsman, clouted his 32nd homer and two singles among the 13 Yankee hits in the opener and followed along with two of New York's four blows in the second clash. Jimmie Fox, the new home run king, started the shelling of Johnny Allen in the afterpiece and knocked in five runs with his 48th homer and two other blows.

Giant Pitchers Turned Up The final tune-up of the New York Giants' pitchers for the world series in a doubleheader with the Phillies completed the day's major program. Carl Hubbell, slated to start the first game against the Senators, got timely support from the New York regulars and won 3-1, but Hal Schumacher found the backing of the reserves less effective and took a 6 to 0 trimming. Hubbell had a great hurling duel with Reg Grabowski as he won his 23rd victory of the season and his 100th in the major leagues. Grabowski limited the champions to four hits while the Phils got twice that number, but two of the Giant blows were homers by Hughie Critz and George Davis that produced all their runs. Schumacher took his 12th defeat as the Phils got to him for four runs in the third on three hits, three passes and two errors, while Frank Pearce scattered eight blows to give the

JACK SHARKEY'S RING CAREER IS DEFINITELY OVER

Tommy Loughran Put the Finishing Touch On Last Night

By Edward J. Neil (Associated Press Sports Writer) Philadelphia, Sept. 28.—(AP) It can be marked down today that the fighting career of Jack Sharkey, stormy petrel of the heavyweights for almost ten years, is over, and in the same breath there is no telling where 31-year-old Tommy Loughran is going to wind up. Sharkey climbed into his car early this morning, slid behind the wheel, pulled up his coat collar and headed home for Boston. The farther he drove, the faster he drove, away from the fight game, apparently forever. In Baker Bowl last night, home of the down-trodden Phillies, Jack Sharkey came to the end of the trail. Tommy Loughran pecked his eyes with left jabs through fifteen rounds, stood up under a terrific body bombardment, grinned back courageously from a blood stained face, and in the end won the decision, though the officials barely gave it to him.

Only One Knock Down The crowning blow was a right hand punch Tommy flung into Sharkey's face in the tenth round, a desperate smash that landed on the bridge of the former heavy-weight champion's nose, and to the gleeful amazement of a crowd of less than 10,000, knocked Sharkey to his knees, stunned him, although he came up without a count.

As far back as fight memories go, no one has seen the feather-dusting Loughran, famous for his boxing but never for his punching, floor a rival. In Tommy's career, long before he won the light-heavyweight championship, there appears a couple of technical knockouts. But never has he seriously hurt a rival since gaining the top-notch ranks a dozen years ago.

Profit-less Victory It was an evening of sweet triumph for Loughran, even though he got no pay and the gate receipts scarcely covered the $25,000 guarantee paid Sharkey. Four years ago when a heavyweight title chance was at stake, Sharkey stormed into Tommy in the third round of a battle in the Yankee Stadium, whipped an overhand right into the head of a boxer who should have laughed at such an unorthodox punch, and stretched him on the canvas. Loughran rose at five that night but he hadn't the faintest chance to continue as he walked dazedly across the ring, holding his ropes, asking Referee Lou Magnolia for a chair to rest in, and think it over. It was Loughran's turn to add the final crusher to Sharkey's career after four years of waiting, to add this beating to the knockout Primo Camera scored in winning the sailor's heavyweight title in June, and the trouncing King Levinsky gave him in Chicago ten days ago.

There was considerable question in the officials' minds that Loughran, pouring hundreds of left jabs into Sharkey's disdained face, out-gaming a rival who had him in distress half a dozen times with body blows, but never could sustain his attack, actually had won the decision.

Sharkey Satisfied Judge Al Voice gave Sharkey seven rounds, Loughran six and called two even. Herman Weingrad awarded Loughran seven, Sharkey four, with four even. Referee Spud Murphy scored it evenly, six, six and three, but he cast the deciding vote for Loughran because he had scored the sole knockdown of the fight. But there was no question in Sharkey's mind. "Tommy won all right," he said, and then he headed for home. Jimmy Johnston, manager of Madison Square Garden who has Sharkey signed for three fights this winter, said he was no longer interested. He immediately sought Loughran's services.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today — Lou Gehrig broke the hearts of the Cubs in the first game of the world series at New York with a home run over the right center field stand in the fourth inning, scoring Ruth, New York, 12; Chicago Cubs, 6.

Five Years Ago Today — Kupsack, from the Kershaw stable, won the Hourless Handicap by a neck at Aqueduct.

Ten Years Ago Today — The Giants clinched their third straight National League pennant, and the ninth for John McGraw since his career began with New York in 1902.

Davenport Loses Third Straight To Western Leaguers

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 28.—(AP)—Barrell (Cy) Blanton, leading strikeout hurler of the Western League, pitched St. Joseph to a 2 to 1 victory over Davenport, Mississippi Valley League title winner, for six safeties.

INJURY-ILLNESS COMBINATION IS HAWKEYES' FOE

Coach Solem Is Trying Hard To Whip Team Into Condition

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Iowa isn't scheduled to play its first football game until Saturday, but Ossie Solem, the Hawkeyes' coach, has been waging a losing battle against a well-known "team" since the training season started. Solem's p.e.-season opponent is the duo known as "injury and sickness." At the very outset of the training period minor and serious injuries and sickness began to hamper the Iowa coach's program. Lawrence Halton, a sophomore quarterback, was the first to go out. He suffered a broken ankle. Since then minor hurts have kept others on the sidelines, delaying Solem's plans. Yesterday it developed that Bill Ash, a fullback, sustained two broken ribs in Tuesday's scrimmage. Nevertheless Solem has hopes of bringing a strong team here Saturday to battle Northwestern in the game which opens the Big Ten conference. He has a powerful line and a scoring threat in Dick Crayne, his sophomore fullback.

Wildcats To Air? There were indications at Northwestern yesterday that the Wildcats will use an aerial offense rather than to attempt smashing through Iowa's line. Coach Hanley has a lot of respect for Solem's forward wall.

Hanley concentrated on passing in yesterday's drill. He had Roy Auguston doing the tossing and Ed Manske and Art Jens, ends, doing the catching. It looked like a nice combination. The guards will be Paul Tangora and Ed Whalen. Iowa hasn't defeated Northwestern since 1923 when Howard Jones was the coach.

Around The Big Ten: Clark Shaughnessy has a new huddle for Chicago; the team lines up in files of four at right angles to the line; signals will be called in that formation. . . Mickey Vuchinich, Ohio State center, is in the hospital, but will be out shortly. . . Illinois' center, Bob Bloom, is temporarily ineligible. . . Art Jens in the fourth game of the post season series here tonight. It was the third straight victory for the Western League champions. The teams play here again tonight.

Blanton allowed only three hits and struck out 19 men. The right-hander failed by one of tying his Western League record of 20 strikeouts, established here July 27 as he pitched a no hit, no run game against Joplin. The Saints combed Bill Prince, Blue Sox moundsman, for six safeties.

and "Eggs" Manske now look like best bets as Northwestern's ends. . . Minnesota held a secret drill yesterday preparing for the opener Saturday with South Dakota State. . . Coach Kipke had the Michigan varsity running through the new plays he has been teaching them; Bill Renner called the signals. . . Purdue drilled on blocking and kicking. . . Wendell Walker, fullback, and guards Bob Jones and Dick Volvia looked good when Indiana scrimmaged. . . Coach Spears of Wisconsin is experimenting with a pony backfield; Kunderd and Schiller got away for long gains.

TWO GAMES FOR L. CENTER FANS COMING SUNDAY

Old Timers Will Take Field In Second Game Of Day

A double header baseball game is scheduled for next Sunday afternoon at the Lee Center diamond. At 12:45 the Lee Center Regulars and Cheese Factory teams will cross bats against a team from El-dena, massing their forces. The unusual attraction of the day will be a game in which the Lee Center All-Stars will meet the Lee Center Old Timers. The latter will consist of players who have appeared on rosters from 1911 to 1921 inclusive among whom will be the following eligible players:

Earl Beene, Sterling; Raymond Callahan, Dixon; Lyman Callahan, Masonville, Iowa; Chris Gilbert, Lee Center; John Brasel, Lee Center; John Frizelle, Franklin Grove; Fred Kelley, Franklin Grove; Walter Taylor, Lee Center; George Johnson, Dixon; Mark Trostle, Franklin Grove; Arthur Kreitzer, Ohio; Ray Fortney, Amboy; Walter Wellman, Ransom; Howard Wellman, Lee Center; Wilbur Bre-cunier, Franklin Grove; Ray Shaw-maker, Franklin Grove; Elliott Henry, West, Brooklyn; Gilbert Malach, Sublette; Abe Gilbert, Franklin Grove; Clifford Schafer, Ashton; Ed Henry, Dixon; James Devine, Dixon and Fred Katzwinkle, Amboy.

Most of the above players will be present. The starting pitcher will be Raymond Callahan with Lyman Callahan or Ray Fortney doing the receiving. These three formed batteries here in 1911 and several seasons have elapsed since they have performed. The weather permitting, it is expected that a large attendance will witness the two games.

OUTSELLS EVERY OTHER BEER ..AT A CENTURY OF PROGRESS

Nearly twenty million people have already visited the Fair—and they've refreshed themselves with a lot of beer!

Yet among the many different brands sold at the World's Fair Grounds, there's one outstanding favorite!

It's ATLAS SPECIAL—the beer that's out-selling every other brand at "A Century of Progress!"

What's the answer for such overwhelming popularity?

Here's what experienced beer lovers say—

ATLAS is old enough to "drink better"; it is mellow and zesty; it has a "white collar" that's a dream of creamy foam; it is sparkling and clear to the last drop; it has that "never-get-enough" taste (the Germans call it "suffigkeit").

And here's what anyone will say—

ATLAS just seems to hit the spot. More refreshing. More thirst-quenching. More of everything you want—in beer!

But most important of all—ATLAS just seems to have "more pick-up per bottle"! We don't know why, because it's perfectly legal, but you'll agree it's there just the same.

Meet this Atlas Special Beer—your first glass will mark the beginning of a lifelong friendship. Ask for it at your dealer's, at your favorite club or restaurant.

Rochelle—A plan for reorganization of the Rochelle National Bank has been presented to the National Bank Reorganization Department of the Seventh Federal District in Chicago and has met with their approval. The plan is now in Washington awaiting the approval of the Comptroller of the Currency.

As soon as his approval is received a reorganization committee of local citizens will start to work on the plan. It is said that the deposits in the special accounts under the Conservator are over $160,000.00 at this time.

John P. Manning, local member of the officers' reserve corps, has received notice from general headquarters of his promotion from second lieutenant to first lieutenant of infantry.

Harold Stevens, second lieutenant of infantry in the officers' reserve corps, has been ordered to Fort Sheridan for a two weeks' training course, after which time he will be assigned to active service at one of the forest conservation camps. He expects to be occupied with this responsibility for about six months.

The marriage of Miss Laura Askeland and Roland Zimmerman, of Rochelle, was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Askeland, near Eamond, Sunday, September 24th, at 1 p. m. Rev. Stoutland of Creston Lutheran church officiated.

The bride wore a gown of blue crepe and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and lilies of the valley. Miss Louis Alms, the bridesmaid, wore a salmon pink crepe frock and carried pink roses. Walter Zimmerman acted as best man.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerman will reside in Rochelle.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Lux of Rochelle announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Bernice P. Lux of Rochelle, to David Jarrett, Jr., of Rockford, a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Jarrett, on Saturday, September 23, 1933. The ceremony was read at 11 o'clock in the morning at the Lux home, 1032 Seventh street, Rochelle, by the Rev. R. W. Putnam, pastor of the Rochelle Methodist Episcopal church in the presence of members of the immediate families and a few friends.

Miss Esther Nass, 314 North Main street, Rockford, who formerly shared an apartment in Rockford with Miss Lux, was the bride's only attendant, and James Jarrett was his brother's best man. The bride wore a smart fall costume of eel gray with matching hat and accessories with a shoulder bouquet of gardenias. Miss Nass wore a brown outfit with matching accessories. A wedding luncheon was served at the Collier Hotel in Rochelle after the ceremony.

Mr. Jarrett and his bride are on a wedding trip by motor to Canada and upon their return will be at home at 2126 Auburn street, Rockford. The bride, a graduate of Rochelle high school and Northern Illinois State Teachers College at DeKalb, has been on the faculty of the Barbour school, Rockford, for the past five years. The bridegroom was graduated from Rockford high school and studied at the University of Illinois for two years in

Here's One Good Way to END AGONY OF NEURITIS

Newark Man Knows How and Loses 10 Pounds

"Gentlemen! I used Kruschen Salts to try and get rid of Neuritis from which I had suffered for one year in my left shoulder and arm. . . I took a little of the salts in the morning, sometimes in my coffee, other times in water. I would also occasionally take a dose in water at night before retiring. For 3 months I used the salts and while I lost 10 pounds in weight, the pain in my shoulder HAS ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED. During the time I was taking the salts I received no other medical treatment so I am fully convinced the Kruschen Salts did the trick." C. K. Murray, Newark, N. J.

Take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning—a jar lasts 4 weeks—get it at any drugist in the world—costs but a trifle.—Adv.

BLAME BATHTUBS FOR SHORTAGE OF GOOD WINES

Secretary of Grape Growers' League Has Explanation

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Harry A. Caddow, secretary of the Grape Growers League of California, blames the bathtub for the wine industry's greatest problem.

Nearly 25,000,000 gallons of aged domestic wine now stored in American warehouses, he says "won't last more than a few months" after the expected repeal of the eighteenth amendment. And it's all the bathtub's fault.

"The dry years since 1918 have more than doubled the pre-prohibition consumption of wine in the United States," Caddow said today. "We produced around 50,000,000 gallons annually before 1918 and imported about 8,000,000 gallons a year."

"Since then the demand has increased until Americans are now drinking around 115,000,000 and 125,000,000 gallons of wine a year. The bathtub's to blame. With the regular sources of supply cut off, the people have taken to making bootleg wine in the home, some of it in the cellar, some in the garage, but mostly in the bathtub with grape presses."

The grape growers secretary estimates that not for three and probably not for five years will the established wineries be able to distribute 100,000,000 gallons annually of wine at least a year old.

He said vintners are working top speed to meet the expected demand. California vintners have stepped up production so that the bonded vintage which has averaged about 5,000,000 gallons a year since 1918 will run between 20,000,000 and 25,000,000 gallons this year. Caddow predicted double that amount will come from California wine presses in 1934.

MANCUSO GIVEN SLIGHT EDGE IN CATCHING 'DOPE'

Both Receivers Are Dependable And Help Pitchers

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
New York, Sept. 28.—(AP)—Professional baseball major league clubs have ever gone into the world series without first class backstopping. The deeds of Granger, Kling, Carrigan, Gowdy, Cochran and Dickey ring down through the sagas of baseball battle.

The man in the mask can make or break a ball club. Enthusiastic adherents of either participant in the 1933 world series will tell you that Gus Mancuso of the Giants and Luke Sewell of the Senators and the Alabama Sewells "made" their teams what they are today.

Mancuso and Sewell do not rank among the great catchers of all time. They lack the mechanical precision of a Schalk and they do not hit with the lustiness of a Cochran. But they are both smart, dependable and durable. The trades that brought them into the pennant-winning picture this year.

Mancuso from the Cardinals and Sewell from Cleveland, turned out to be just what the doctor ordered for the benefit of the New York and Washington pitching staffs.

Sewell is the more experienced receiver, with a dozen years of major league experience behind him, whereas Mancuso, in his fifth big league season, is just finishing his first full campaign as a No. 1 backstop for any club. Gus was understudy to the great Jimmy Wilson at St. Louis. He is 27, five years younger than Sewell, but has had the advantage of playing a part in two previous world series.

There seems little to choose on the whole, but Mancuso's somewhat more robust batting average, plus his exceptional talent for getting the most out of his pitchers, give him an edge over Sewell in the "dope sheet."

Use of Latin

Latin, like all languages, is a growth; and the so-called Romance languages are merely the changes due to growth and locality that have taken place in "classic" Latin; just as Latin grew from some unknown source. Much Latin literature was written from 200 B. C. to 500 A. D., but especially around the time of Christ, when Roman culture was at its height. In the Twelfth century much of this literature was revived. In the meantime the language had suffered the inevitable change, losing much of its stateliness and beauty. Scholars, most of whom were Catholic clergymen, revived Latin literature as it was originally written.

JAMES COLLIER, DEM. LEADER IN SOUTH, IS DEAD

Was Former Chairman House Ways and Means Committee

Washington, Sept. 28.—(AP)—James W. Collier of Mississippi, a member of the Tariff Commission and former Democratic chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, died suddenly at his home here today.

Death was due to heart trouble, his office assistants said. This was his birthday. He was born near Vicksburg, 61 years ago.

Collier served twelve terms in the House and declined to run again last November after a controversy over whether candidates should run at large or by districts. Collier was promoted to the chairmanship of the Ways and Means committee of the House after last year's Democratic victory. He suffered a stroke a while later.

Thereafter, the then Representative Crisp (D. Ga.) took over the active committee leadership. Crisp, a "lame duck," also was appointed a member of the Tariff Commission, but resigned after serving only a few months. Oddly enough, it was Crisp's place that Collier took on the commission.

The Mississippi Tariff Commission began last March 28.

He is survived by his widow and two daughters. Funeral arrangements have yet to be made.

TABLES TURNED! FORMER OFFICER IS FOUND GUILTY

Suspected Detective Convicted Of Shooting A Gangster

Chicago, Sept. 28.—(AP)—The tables were reversed in Chicago today as a suspended police officer stood convicted of shooting a gangster.

The verdict, finding former Detective Sergeant Harry Lang guilty of assault with a deadly weapon upon Frank Nitti, once associated with the Capone gang and listed by police as a "public enemy," was returned by a jury last night.

It carries with it sentence in the House of Correction up to one year or a fine of from $25 to $1000 or both. Sentence will not be passed by Judge Thomas J. Lynch before Oct. 17, the date set for defense motion for a new trial.

Meanwhile, Lang a member of the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak's personal police detail, was allowed to go free on his original bond of $5000. His first look of disappointment when the verdict was read brightened considerably when he realized that the jury had not convicted him on the first count, a charge of assault with intent to kill, as demanded by the state.

Grew Out Of Raid

The case grew out of a raid on reputed headquarters of the Capone syndicate last December 19 when both Nitti and Lang were wounded. After his recovery Nitti was put on trial and acquitted when Lang refused to testify and a fellow officer said from the stand that Nitti had been unarmed and that Lang must have shot him and then himself.

Then the charges were switched to the officers and during his recent trial testimony was given that the raid had been ordered by Mayor Cermak, whose life, a witness said, had been threatened because of his war on gangsters.

A fellow officer testified that the man the mayor learned had been appointed is his "executioner" was Louis (Little New York) Capagna, seized in the raid. In his own defense, Lang testified that he fired on Nitti when he saw him struggling with another policeman and that "somebody" then shot him.

For the LOVE of EVE by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY
EVE BAYLESS, pretty assistant to E. H. BARNES, advertising manager of Dixie's department store, married DICK RAIDER, a construction superintendent. Dick is sent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondacks. It will require at least a year to complete but Eve refuses to go with him.

MOYA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is constantly causing trouble at the office. She is responsible for several mistakes for which Eve is blamed.

Unknown to Dick, Eve has been playing the stock market, borrowing money from her mother and sister. She loses this, as well as all her own savings and $400 Dick left in the bank.

Following a misunderstanding at Christmas, weeks pass in which Eve does not hear from Dick. She is too stubborn to admit that she was in the wrong and apologizes. Eve works harder at the office, trying to forget her troubles. Her mother comes to visit and tries to persuade her to give up her job. Then Eve learns that Barnes, the advertising manager, is resigning and that she has been selected to take his place.

On a doctor's advice she takes her vacation early and decides to go to Pine Forest to see Dick. Dick tells her must arrive at some understanding about their future.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XLVI

DICK was not at the boarding house when Eve arrived there. A servant answered the bell and invited Eve into the living room to wait for him. A moment later Mrs. Williams entered. Her blue eyes looked kindly and she settled herself for a chat but Eve neither disclosed the purpose of her visit or asked questions about Dick.

Presently Mrs. Williams excused herself and returned to the kitchen. Eve grew nervous and restless. Then she saw Dick's yellow roadster coming around the bend of the road. She sat stock still. Dick stopped the car before the door and his companion—an attractive girl—stepped out, entered the house and passed down the center hall.

Dick drove on but soon reappeared. A moment later he stood in the great arched doorway of the hall, staring at Eve.

"Why, Eve!" he cried. Plainly he was embarrassed and Eve immediately thought of the girl who had been with him.

"Well, this is a surprise!" Dick was saying.

Eve's composure left her. She began to cry and this only increased Dick's embarrassment.

"Not here," he said. "Come up to my room." He led the way to a large upstairs bedroom.

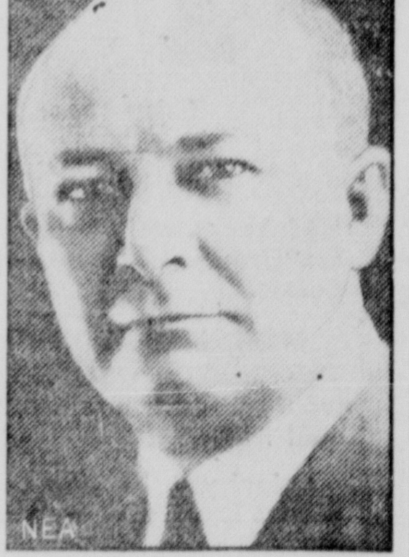

"You don't seem very pleased to see me," she said in a trembling voice.

"I'm surprised, that's all." "Well, you may as well know I saw you with your girl friend," she said accusingly. "I'm sorry now that I came."

Dick laughed. "You needn't be," he said easily. "I was out at the job this morning and picked her up on the way back. She's one of the teachers who live here and she was walking home from church. It wouldn't have been very polite to pass her by, would it?"

"It looked odd to me."

Judge Guarded In Bailey Trial

Federal Judge E. S. Vaught, above, is presiding at the trial of Harvey J. Bailey and 11 others at Oklahoma City on a charge of kidnaping Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire, for whose release $200,000 is said to have been paid. The federal building was under heavy guard as the trial began.

Grove in Brooklyn township where she grew to womanhood.

On October 27 1875 she was united in marriage to John H. Terhune, the services being performed by T. C. Young, then pastor of the M. E. church at Mulligan's.

One year later the couple moved to West Brooklyn being some of the earliest settlers in that village. The railroad having gone thru but a few years before the husband, who was an experienced telegrapher, secured the position of station agent holding that position for more than thirty years.

They were blessed with two children, both daughters, but their blessing was brief as one passed away in infancy and the other reaching the age of five. The couple took part in all civic affairs, the deceased being especially interested in church work and was president of the Ladies Aid Society for many years. The husband was active in the organization of the local Methodist church; the organizing of the local fire department and the concert band of which the village was justly proud.

The husband passed away on August 9 1917 and the bereaved shortly after took up her home with her sister, Mrs. Lula Long, where she received the utmost care and consideration during the many years of illness that were to follow. At various times she suffered several partial paralytic strokes and was further handicapped by impairment of her eyesight. But she bore them all without murmur.

Death came to relieve her of her predicament about 11:30 September 24th at the Long home. She was preceded in death by her parents and one brother while two sisters and one brother survive. They are: Mrs. Carrie Cook of Tucson, Ariz., and Mrs. Lula Long of West Brooklyn. A brother, Milton Wertman still resides in Chicago.

Funeral services were held from the Long home on Tuesday afternoon conducted by Rev. Winters of Paw Paw and interment was made in the Union cemetery. Pall bearers were chosen from lifetime friends and neighbors and were: John Fassig, E. E. Vincent, Fred Biggart, Joseph Bauer, Laurent Gehant and A. F. Jeanguenat.

The residence proved far too small to accommodate the many loyal friends and acquaintances who gathered to pay their last respects to the deceased.

"See here!" Dick said hotly. "I'll not be put on the defensive just for giving a person a lift."

"Oh, Dick—we're quarrelling again and I didn't want to."

He turned away from her and looked out the window.

"Dick," Eve began timidly. He half-turned. "Dick, I was so lonely!" she added wistfully. He turned and she was in his arms.

EVE found the little town of Pine Forest enchanting. It had been settled by enterprising sons and daughters of New England pioneers, hence its architecture was strictly colonial.

In the afternoon Dick took Eve for a drive into the woodland. The unpaved road wound in and out among the trees, downhill and up, until they came to a clearing high above a lake. Below them the water, blue-black from the dense shadows, resembled a huge mirror, banked by foliage. Eve stood enraptured and Dick's arm gently slipped about her.

"Like it, sweetheart," he asked.

"It's heavenly," she answered softly.

That night she slept more soundly than she had slept for months and awakened refreshed and eager for the new day.

They took more trips into the woods in the days that followed. "To think," Eve said one evening, "that you have been enjoying all this while I've been cooped up in an office worrying about petty jealousies and having general grief!"

"You didn't have to, you know," Dick reminded her. "And you needn't go back."

"Oh, but I'm going!" she said, instantly regretting her outburst.

DICK had often spoken of his Aunt Sophronia and he had promised to take Eve to see her some day. Since Aunt Sophronia's home was not far distant they set out early Saturday morning and drove south through the mountains and foothills into the Cherry Valley.

They followed the turnpike over rolling farm country until they came to a little village

LAWYERS URGED TO FIGHT BACK AT WISE-CRACKS

Supreme Justice Shaw Urges Action By Lee County Bar Assn.

Calling upon the active lawyers of the Fifteenth judicial district to consider a movement to stop wise-cracks aimed at the legal profession, and urging the attorneys to take offense at the scurrilous remarks and jokes aimed at their profession and fight back, was the substance of a talk delivered by Supreme Court Justice Elwyn R. Shaw of Freeport before the annual meeting of the Lee County Bar Association last evening. The theme of his remarks was stressed by Justice Harry Edwards in his short talk before the baristers.

"There are altogether too many cheap jokes and wise cracks at the expense of the legal profession of the country," Justice Shaw charged. "It is not a new practice but has existed since time immemorial. It is time for the legal profession to take offense and to fight back. Lawyers handle money and affairs of their clients and are not under bond which is proof of their honesty and integrity. It is time for the legal profession not only to begin but to maintain a campaign against this practice."

Referring to the new practice act in Illinois Justice Shaw stated that the new rule is speeding up justice. There has been a tremendous jam in the courts and the new act will result in fewer appeals and the more expeditious handling of cases which is for the public good, the speaker stated. In opening his talk, he paid a fine tribute to Attorney Clyde Smith of this city, one of the most successful practitioners of the district.

Visitors Present

The meeting was attended by delegations from the Whiteside, Ogle and Stephenson county organizations. In addition to Justice Shaw the association entertained as guests of honor the three judges of the Fifteenth judicial district, Frank J. Sheehan of Galena, Albert H. Manus of Freeport and Harry Edwards of Dixon, all of whom made short talks.

President William L. Leech, who completed his term as head of the association, acted as toastmaster during the evening, and in clever manner, called upon the guest speakers and conducted the brief business session which closed one of the most successful and best attended meetings of the association.

Judge Sheehan who is presiding at the September term of the Lee county circuit court, thanked the attorneys of the district for the uniform courtesy extended in his short experience on the circuit bench.

Judge Manus stated that while the experience of serving on the circuit bench was a new one to him, thus far it had been a very enjoyable one and that he likewise greatly appreciated the courtesy extended by the members of the bar.

New Judges Welcomed

Judge Edwards, dean of the circuit jurists, strongly endorsed the remarks of Justice Shaw. He urged that the legal practitioners zealously guard their profession. He stated that the practice of law was a high and noble profession, and urged that those who were members of the bar resent the reproach and ridicule or aspersions cast upon its members. Judge Edwards welcomed his two associates, Judges Sheehan and Manus to the administration of law in the Fifteenth circuit, and paid high tribute to the members of the bar of the district.

Judge Carl Sheldon of Sterling, representing the Whiteside County Bar Association; Attorney Martin V. Peterman of Oregon, representing the Ogle County Bar Association; and Attorney H. C. Warner of Dixon, president of the Sixth

New Officers Chosen

At the business session which concluded the delightful evening, the following officers were unanimously elected for the ensuing year:

Lightning Killed Two Moline Men

Moline—A bolt of lightning was believed responsible for the deaths of Richard Deordt and Mike Karpantas, as they were at work on a machine in the plant of the Moline Iron Works. Two other men were injured and officials of the company said they believed lightning struck high power lines, causing the machinery to be affected.

WHAT LEADING DIXON CITIZENS THINK OF BOY AND GIRL SCOUTS

Harry Edwards, Judge of Appeals and Circuit Court:

"The Scout movement stands for and teaches law respect and law obedience; the twin pillars of civic security in periods of economic and social disturbances. It further exemplifies the personal virtues of forbearance, helpfulness, and self reliance. It is worthy of encouragement and support."

Ralph Zarger, father of an Eagle Scout:

"One who knows what the Scout Movement is from actual experience will be heartily in favor of helping in every possible way."

E. J. Brown:

"The Girl and Boy Scout Program is worthy of our support and influence of the Scouting Age makes for better health, character building and good citizenship."

A. E. Marth:

"I submit the following for use in the Scout work: Boys and girls that follow the Scout teaching are able to live and able to influence others to live better lives, mentally, morally and physically."

J. Frank Bennett:

"Lack of statements from Rev. Fr. Walsh, pastor of St. Patrick's church and Rev. Fr. Driscoll, pastor of St. Anne's Catholic church because of their absence from the city, prompts me to quote the statement of Cardinal Hayes of New York. He said: 'I commend the Boy Scout movement most heartily.'"

A. H. Lancaster, Supt. Dixon Schools:

"Scouting deserves the wholehearted support of the people in Dixon. The Scout program provides for participation in citizenship activities that helps to develop essential habits and attitudes. The provision of leisure time activities, for a large number of boys and girls, has been very beneficial in Dixon."

Rev. B. Norman Burke:

"The Scout program, if faithfully carried out, will produce men and women of character; and the character of the nation depends upon the character of the individual."

George F. Prescott:

"I believe that the training given our Girl and Boy Scouts is wholesome, and very much worth while."

F. X. Newcomer:

"I most heartily endorse the work of the Boy and Girl Scouts and believe this training not only beneficial for these young people, but productive of good for the community."

George C. Dixon, Mayor:

"The opportunities afforded by the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts constitute the most valuable course to promote good citizenship and supplement the work of the public school system. All citizens interested in promoting better government should encourage the work of these two organizations."

L. R. Evans:

"It is easy to pick out the young man or young woman who have been good Scouts."

F. J. Robinson:

"Scouting is the right foundation for a successful life and is a training no boy or girl should be deprived of."

Dewey Kinn:

"Every boy and girl should take advantage of the marvelous training which is offered in Scouting."

H. J. McCoy:

"The outdoor activities of Scouting is a wonderful help to good health."

Helen A. Feltes:

"The training of Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts is helpful for later transactions in business."

James W. Watts:

"To direct the child's mind and hands to constructive activity during the period afforded for Scout training is an effective method of crime prevention, and parents are too often negligent in meeting this obligation."

"The Scout program not only helps the neglected child, but through organization, supplements and makes more efficient the effort of parents who are endeavoring to meet the obligation."

"I am glad to have the opportunity to commend the program of the Boy and Girl Scout organization."

Edward A. Jones:

"I wish to add my endorsement to the work being done by the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts of this community. I have some knowledge of the work that has been done and a fair idea of what can be accomplished if the citizens of this county encourage the work which has been started by the directors of these organizations. The only material way in which encouragement can be demonstrated is through the means of financial contributions.

"From my experience with juvenile delinquents I know the good that these organizations can accomplish in a community and I earnestly urge that these movements be endorsed and supported by all our people."

George Beier, President of Dixon Chamber of Commerce:

"The leadership and training provided the Boy and Girl Scouts are important and valuable to the community. The program should be supported by more than well wishes. Any sum that can conveniently be contributed to the campaign is an investment in better citizenship."
